

8 disks finished with the finest Japanese lacquer can be a vase of so many different shapes. As seen from above it may well look like a bird's nest. It is designed by Akihito Fumita. Ken Tsutsujimori, one of the leading traditional craftsmen of Kawatsura lacquer ware, uses a highly advanced skill called Hana-nuri. Kawatsura lacquer ware is a designated traditional craft of Japan.

nest001

- use/ vase
- materials/ Japanese lime plywood, Urushi lacquer
- size/ $\varnothing 130 \times H 110 \text{mm}$
- weight/ 1530g
- design/ Akihito Fumita
- traditional craft/ Kawatsura lacquer ware (Akita), hand-made
- origin/ Japan